

Lecturer : Prof.Dr Baharuddin Aris
Room No. : C15 307/C15 310
Telephone No. :
E-mail : bba@utm.my

Synopsis : This is a foundation course to educational technology, information and communication technology (ICT), basic principles of instructional design and multimedia development and e-learning, together with computer-based information system management. Among aspects that will be discussed are definition of educational technology (process & product), current development of ICT and its impact toward teaching, learning and management, several instructional design models, knowledge management, ergonomic, research and development relate with information technology applications in education.